

Rachel Cantor Fogarty Professional Bio

In 2005, Rachel founded RC Associates, a boutique retained recruiting firm, which serves small to medium size engineering consulting firms throughout the US. RC Associates has become an integral part of the engineering industry, serving as a leader to fill key executive and professional level positions within the A/E community.

Rachel is extremely active in the Engineering community and has served as the Chair for the Tampa Bay Engineers Week Banquet Committee in addition to serving on various committees for other engineering professional organizations.

Rachel is also involved with many volunteer positions in the engineering community, and she is passionate about helping the next generation of engineers learn about our industry. Rachel was an integral part of creating the Tampa Bay Engineers Week Outreach Program.

In addition to her involvement in the engineering industry, Rachel also served for over a decade on the board of a prominent nonprofit that works with adults with disabilities. Rachel was active on both the Strategic Planning and CEO Search committees.

Rachel is the recipient of many awards including the Florida Section ITE Young Transportation Professional of the Year, Tampa Bay Business Journal Young Business Woman of the Year, and Tampa Bay CEO's Magazine Young CEO of the Year. Rachel has also been featured on PBS WEDU's tv show, Small Business Academy.
