

Erica Stephens Bio:

Erica Stephens leads the team dedicated to customer resiliency programs. Her team manages the customer journey through the development and implementation of DER projects and working with internal partners to educate and provide solutions through the deployment of assets under these programs. With a decade of experience at Georgia Power, Erica has held various roles in the laboratory, environmental, and renewable sectors within the company. Erica holds a Bachelor of Science in Biology from the University of South Carolina and Master of Science in Environmental Sciences from Louisiana State University.