

Matt Frankel

National Client Solutions Coach, JE Dunn Construction

Matt's passion lies in helping others succeed. Regardless of his position or title, he considers himself first and foremost a coach. Thanks to a diverse career path that has included financial services, insurance investigations, commercial flight instructing, airport planning, marketing, business development, sales training, and presentation skills coaching (among others), he's had opportunities to serve professionals at all levels across a wide range of industries.

But AEC is his first love, and he's currently a full-time National Client Solutions Coach at JE Dunn Construction.

