

Kerrie Boyette, PE

Transportation Regional Practice Leader, Senior Associate
KCI Technologies

Kerrie Boyette is a Professional Engineer and graduate of Georgia Tech with 23 years of experience in the transportation industry. She is a senior associate with KCI and leads their Georgia Transportation Design group. She leads a team of 30 engineers and technicians and is responsible for the team's projects, financials, marketing, and staff development. She has served as project manager on numerous projects for GDOT and local government agencies with a successful track record of managing large teams that include multiple sub-consultants and both internal and external resources. Kerrie focuses on successfully delivering transportation projects to her clients while also mentoring and growing her team members.

